"The arrival of CIN comes none too soon."

WALL STREET JOURNAL EUROPE

"Cambridge Information Network (CIN) provides a forum for CIOs to exchange ideas and advice concerning IT strategies, vendor relationships, product platforms, management problems, and career decisions."

INFORMATION WEEK

"The site acts as a filter that feeds executives 'bite-size chunks of information,' rather than unregulated streams of data."

AMERICAN BANKER

"I can get useful information about data warehousing and knowledge management from other CIOs who are familiar with them, rather than pitches from sales or marketing people."

MAYNARD WEBB

VICE PRESIDENT AND CIO

BAY NETWORKS

The Cambridge Information Network invites you to tap into the expertise of your fellow technology professionals and decision makers. As a top IT executive, you'll also appreciate this opportunity to share your insights and concerns online. In addition, your complimentary CIN membership entitles you to peruse a vast library of resources and up-to-the-moment information.

As a member of the CIN community, some of the resources you can access include:

- member discussions on strategic, managerial and technology issues
- personal interviews with IT industry leaders
- current news and white papers addressing IT management concerns
- reports on strategic and tactical trends collected from inside and outside CIN
- summaries and reviews of IT industry articles, concepts and Web sites

Come join the world's premier online forum for IT executives.
